The Scope of The Work

-Content :

a lot of students suffering to find their inclinations and spend long time trying many things in hope they can find it which means lost time and effort sometimes for nothing, even if they know what they want or already they found their inclinations they still can't practice and get more experience in it so, they get lack of information about what they tend about.

a. The Current Situations

-Motivation:

We developed the system by adding the feature of creating clubs in various fields, to help and provide a private space for students away from academic pressures to do the things they are interested in.

The Scope of The Work

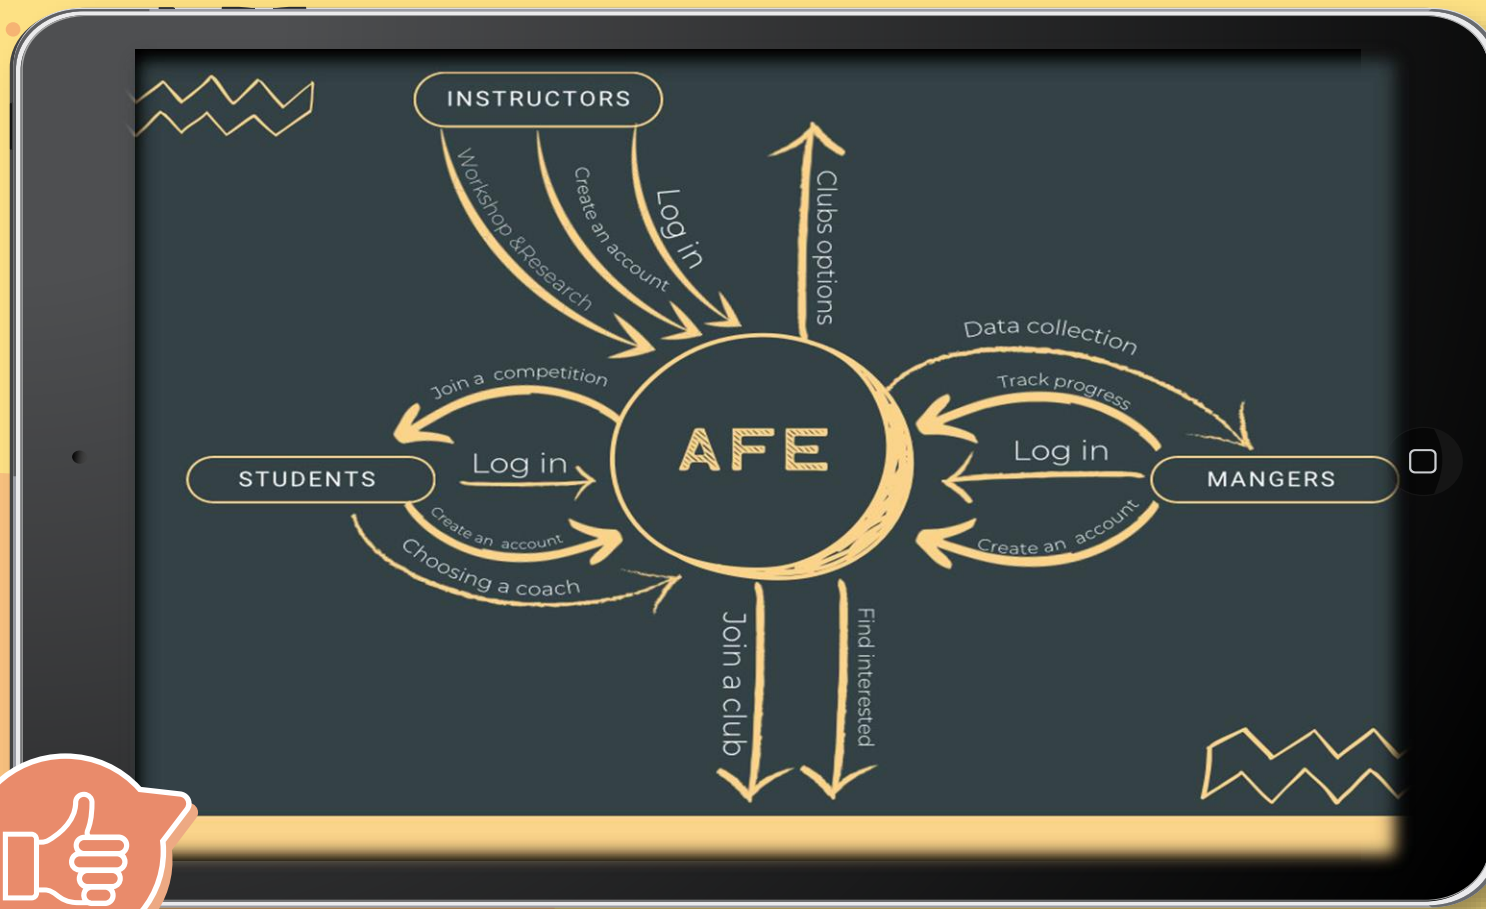

-Content :

We have implemented and worked on all the points that were suggested to be added within the system, such as “create clubs within the system and provide a private space for students” to enhance and help students increase their knowledge of the clubs that attract their interest.

b. The Context of the Work

-Motivation:

It is possible to link the system to a website or apply it to a school system so that we enhance the system’s work and operation and link it to multiple systems and places.
